American Medical Sales Inc. and Calgary Scientific Inc. Announce Partnership for Integration, Sales, and Distribution of ResolutionMD™ Family of Advanced Visualization Software Applications

Catella 4.0 adds FDA-approved ResolutionMD 3D advanced visualization functionality and a foundation for future disease-specific applications

HAWTHORNE, CA and CALGARY, AB, September 13, 2007 - American Medical Sales (AMS) Inc., an international provider of medical image display and storage solutions to hospitals and imaging centers and Calgary Scientific Inc. Medical Group, a leading ease-of-use provider of advanced visualization and analysis software solutions, today announced the signing of global product integration, sales, and distribution agreement. AMS will now offer the FDA-approved ResolutionMD suite of advanced visualization applications as integrated components in their Catella PACS solutions.

Daniel Giesberg, President of AMS stated, "We are very pleased to offer ResolutionMD capabilities in our latest release of Catella 4.0 diagnostic software. ResolutionMD is very powerful, yet designed for ease-of-use; it aligns with our goal of delivering imaging solutions that allow radiologists to increase their focus on the diagnostic process and improve overall productivity. Their Advanced Visualization Toolkit enables us to quickly and cost-effectively integrate FDA-approved 3D capabilities and forms a foundation for the future addition of cardiac and other disease-specific applications."

"AMS has achieved a long history of international market success by delivering medical imaging solutions that are easy to operate, cost-effective and high quality," said Bryon Osing, Chair and CEO of Calgary Scientific Inc. "Our ResolutionMD suite is taking the leadership position regarding ease-of-use and workflow designed to improve disease diagnosis, peer collaboration, patient communication and overall healthcare quality. Our business and product goals fit well with AMS and we look forward to a long and successful relationship."

Catella 4.0 with ResolutionMD advanced visualization capabilities is available immediately from American Medical Sales.
