Calgary Scientific and Edge Health Solutions Announce Canada's First Integrated Practice Management and Advanced Medical Imaging Software Solution

Innovative Edge Management Platform will provide seamless access to ResolutionMD advanced visualization capabilities

SOUTH SURREY, BC Canada and CALGARY, AB Canada, September 4, 2007 - Edge Health Solutions Inc., innovators of medical and dental practice management software developed specifically to leverage the Mac OS X platform and Calgary Scientific Inc. Medical Group (CSIMG), a leading ease-of-use provider of advanced visualization and analysis software solutions today announced the signing of a product integration, sales and distribution agreement for the ResolutionMD™ product family.

Edge Health Solution's EdgeMD, EdgeDMS, and EdgeCC practice management offerings will incorporate ResolutionMD advanced visualization capabilities to deliver highly accurate, real-time 3D image analysis accessible on an Apple desktop, laptop or on the award winning Axiotron ModBook™, the world's first truly integrated Tablet Mac solution. Edge Health will utilize the ResolutionMD Advanced Visualization Toolkit for seamless integration into the systems interface and workflow.

Our success has been a result of developing innovative solutions that continually improve the operations of medical and dental practices", said Troy Spracklin, President and CEO of Edge Health Solutions. "We chose to partner with Calgary Scientific based on their exceptional commitment to the Apple platform and the outstanding developments they have made in advanced visualization".

Dr. Vasant Ramlaggan of Midtown Dental Centre in Toronto stated, "As a current EdgeDMS user, I'm very excited about the new partnership and integration of ResolutionMD software into the EdgeDMS offering. With the ability to get 3D visualization of bone, we can better plan treatment for our patients including implants and bone reconstruction. Because the software will be truly embedded into EdgeDMS, we can also use it to help our patients understand their own treatment directly instead of using models or other tools. In addition to the ResolutionMD integration, EdgeDMS will also support the ability to browse for integrated photos and regular x-rays, providing a smooth transition within the practice management application."

"We are pleased to announce this partnership with Edge Health Solutions, a respected practice management system innovator," stated Byron Osing, CEO of Calgary Scientific Inc. "We share a common direction in building powerful, easy-to-learn and use technologies that leverage the power of the Mac OS X platform. This partnership will deliver a compelling medical and dental practice management solution by providing desktop, laptop or tablet-based advanced visualization capabilities at the point-of-care, improving diagnosis, treatment, patient communication and outcome”.

The integrated practice management advanced visualization solution will be commercially available from Edge Health Solutions in the U.S. and Canada in the fourth quarter of 2007.
