Calgary Scientific Inc. Announces the Addition of Paul Sullivan to its Senior Management Team as Director of Medical Sales Group

CALGARY, AB. March 5, 2007 – Calgary Scientific Inc. (CSI), a leading developer of advanced 3D medical image visualization software solutions, today announced that Mr. Paul Sullivan has joined its senior management team as Director of Medical Product Sales inside the CSI Medical Products Group. Mr. Sullivan will be responsible for aggressively establishing a worldwide distribution and OEM channel for the organization's family of medical products and technologies.

Mr. Sullivan was previously the Managing Director of iBAHN Enterprise Conference Services where he established a new business unit selling and delivering broadband connectivity to corporations for meetings, conferences and events. The new business unit achieved success in its first year, signing clients including IBM, Intel, Cisco, Gartner Group and Deloitte & Touche.

Prior to his successes at iBAHN, Mr. Sullivan was CEO and Director of Guest-Tek Interactive Entertainment Ltd. where in just over 2.5 years, he transformed the organization from an unproven entity with a revenue run rate of approximately CDN$3.5 million per annum and an annual loss of $2.3 Million, to $5.7 Million in profit on a revenue run rate of $25 Million in revenue. Mr. Sullivan led the Guest Tek organization to a CDN $44 million TSX IPO, resulting in a post-money corporate equity value of CDN $120 million.

Dr. Byron Osing, CEO of Calgary Scientific Inc. stated "Paul is a recognized performer and executive, having achieved a high level of success in advanced technologies over his 20 year career . We look forward to Paul playing a key role in achieving our vision as the top OEM provider of advanced visualization solutions in the medical industry."

Paul Sullivan adds "CSI has created an exciting new vision for the delivery of 3D imaging in the medical industry and I look forward to helping build CSI into an industry leader."

Mr. Sullivan has a Masters in Business Administration with a specialization in entrepreneurship and new venture development from the University of Calgary as well as a Bachelor of Commerce from the University of Windsor and a Bachelor of Science (Mathematics) from the University of Western Ontario. He lives in Georgetown, KY where he and his wife operate a successful warmblood horse breeding farm.
